Welcome to the Weechi-it-te-win Family Services Family Healing Program. We deliver high quality services for families that are seeking support to address unresolved trauma and other issues that have impacted their family system in a negative manner.

Our service will provide families with healthy coping skills, wellness strategies, and psycho-educational programming. We strive to give families the “tools” that will help families work through problems in a safe, trauma-informed manner. Our program is located in a therapeutic setting surrounding by the natural scenery of Northwestern, Ontario.

Weechi-it-te-win’s Family Healing Program is a 15-Day Outpatient Program rooted in Anishinaabe culture, ceremony and land-based teachings. The program is designed to support families prior to admission (pre-intake), during the 15-day program, and post-discharge/after-care. This 3 phase approach supports a service delivery continuum in which community service providers and Family Healing Program staff work together for a period of 6 months

MISSION STATEMENT

“We believe in the traditional Anishinaabe concepts of family and as such, we work together to help families heal and attain “mino bimaadiziwin” (a good life).”

OPERATING PHILOSOPHY AND BELIEFS

The overall philosophy of the Weechi-it-te-win Family Services Family Healing Program is reflected in the belief, among the Anishinaabe, that a child is a gift from the Creator and with this comes sacred responsibilities. Alongside this core belief, the Family Healing Program will provide services to families where they will develop the necessary skills to enhance relationships within the family system.

The Weechi-it-te-win Family Healing Program understands that the Creator has entrusted the Anishinaabe people with the responsibility of sustaining original Anishinaabe systems. Accordingly, the Weechi-it-te-win Family Healing Program will promote the involvement of customary life-ways, including traditional practices, which are vital to the healing and recovery process. Healing is viewed from a wholistic perspective, focusing not only on symptoms such as addiction; but also on the physical, emotional, mental, social, and spiritual dimensions of the family system.

The Weechi-it-te-win Family Healing Program emphasizes a team approach in providing assessment, planning, treatment, and aftercare. The emphasis on teamwork is based on the simple premise that program staff, family members and other service providers must work together for family healing.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Weechi-it-te-win Family Services Family Healing Program follows a continuum of care that begins with pre-treatment and ends with aftercare. Each referral will move through this process accordingly. 1. Pre-treatment Orientation, Client and Community Engagement; 2) 15-Day Outpatient Program; service planning, clinical group therapy, cultural therapy; 3) Home or community based After-care, wraparound with other service providers.

PROGRAM EVALUATION

The Family Healing Program promotes professional growth and improvement, as such, we evaluate our services on an ongoing basis. Participants will be asked to evaluate our services and fill out the Ontario Perception of Care Tool which is uploaded to a provincial quality assurance system. This information helps us to improve participant experiences with our services. Additionally, the Family Healing Program requests participants to fill out client satisfaction surveys at various stages of the service continuum.

PARTICIPATION BY COMMUNITY WORKERS

To ensure that the families person receive as much support as possible, the Family Healing Program requires community referral sources to accompany families at admission, attend mid-treatment case conference and graduation ceremony at the time discharge. The Family Healing Program also requires community workers to be engaged in supporting families during the after-care process. Family treatment staff will consult with families and community workers for a period of 6 months after discharge from the program. Consultation will take place through face to face visits with the family and community workers on a monthly basis.
